

PEACE LINE starts - on your screen!

Take part and discuss with the Deputy Foreign Minister of Germany on May 8, 2020

Dear Peace Ambassadors,

on May 8 many of you were supposed to be in Berlin and to prepare for one of our two PEACE LINE tours. Well, Corona had different plans. We had to postpone the tours to the second half of September (www.peaceline.eu).

But, the 8th of May is an important day in the European history. It is the day the Second World War ended in Europe. The German Army surrendered unconditionally. This happened in Berlin.

What does the end of the war mean for us today? How do YOU see the developments in Europe? What are YOUR questions?

We want to discuss your questions and statements with the Deputy Foreign Minister of Germany, Michelle Müntefering. Her official title is State Minister and she is responsible for international cultural exchange.

We meet her in the exact room where the German Army capitulated in 1945. In a LIVE DISCUSSION with her and the President of the German War Graves Commission your opinions will be addressed. So, send you statements and questions as video now, we will replay them during the event. And while the discussion is on you will have a chance to intervene via chat.

The project which we want to carry out later this year (and in the coming years) is funded by the German Federal Office. To get this support for now and later it is very important to show that in spite of Corona young people are still interested in this project. A way to measure that is the participation on the live discussion on the 8th of May with the State Minister for Intercultural Policy at the Federal Foreign Office.

So, please support us by

- joining in on May 8
- be a part of the discussion at the live chat and
- advertise the event among your friends and colleagues.

When?: 8th of May, 6 pm to 7 pm Berlin time

Where?: Live on facebook. Just follow our account or use this link: <https://kurzelinks.de/9fqd>

What?: You can be a part of the discussion live in the chat or just watch

We look forward to the discussion. And as always: If you have any questions you can contact us.

All the best,
your PEACE LINE Team
